Mommy to Be

Spa treatments are wonderful ways to promote deep relaxation and feeling of well-being during your pregnancy. Treatments can also help to replenish and hydrate your skin at a time when it may be hard for you to physically reach parts of your body. The following treatments are appropriate for most women who are expecting. As with any special activity during your pregnancy, please consult with your physician prior to receiving any spa treatments to be sure that they are permitted.

This treatment is best done seaside to help induce the relaxing trance caused by the gentle caress of the island breezes and the calming sounds of the lapping sea. Our special Coconut Ginger Glow allows for gentle exfoliation, followed by a soothing pre-natal massage to relax the body and mind. Then a Spa Pedicure that will assist with the circulation in your legs. You will look more radiant and you'll feel wonderful too!

(3 hours) $250
